... I thought I would cook his favourite meal for dinner.

It's true that Mev is stronger than me but...

... making him carry a lot more stuff
than me makes me feel that it's unfair for him.
So I always try to carry as much as I can instead of not thinking about his position.

I'm not sure.
It might be that I just don't like that Mev gets tired and not about the equality between men and women.

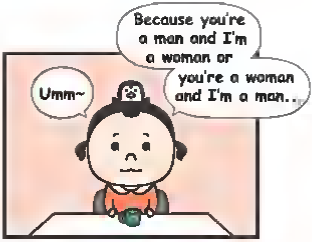
It's OK that I keep on carrying this bag now.



But sometimes
these reasons sound unfair to me.

One of those moments is when we carry things.

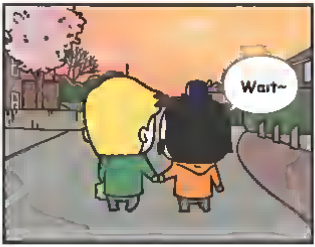
... one day,
Mev told me this.



That evening,...

Penguin. If I carry these more end more, my muscle will get stronger every time.

You'll have to carry a baby in your belly 24 hours a day for a few months when you're pregnant in the future.

But that won't make you stronger and...

I can't help you then

You're a strong man.

Naturally, men are more likely to be born strong than women and...

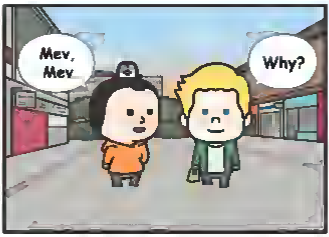
... women are more likely to be born with a more delicate personality.

So it seems that there are many different jabs that each of us take more responsibility for.



Anyway,
I'm still concerned about this even though we don't have many things to carry.

I don't know
if Mev knows my feeling but...